

A 10x10 grid with 30 black circles scattered across it. The circles are distributed in a way that suggests a random process, with some clusters and some empty spaces. The grid lines are thin and gray, and the circles are simple black outlines. The overall appearance is that of a scatter plot or a spatial distribution diagram.